RADIO SVERIGE RAADIO ROOTSI RADIO SCHWEDEN RADIO SUEDE RADIO SUECIA RADIO ZVIEDRUA PADINO LIBELIUR

Dear Sir/Madam,

Radio Sweden is at the moment contesting substantial budget cuts proposed in the new national budget, which suggests a dramatic reduction in public spending as a way of pulling Sweden out of its recession. Radio Sweden as perhaps you know is financed by the Swedish Foreign Office.

Although there is a long democratic process between the budget proposal and a vote in Parliament, Radio Sweden cannot, in view of the country's economic problems, expect to escape future cuts. Even this year we are forced to reduce our spending and have therefore decided regretfully that in future we can only supply stations with one transcription programms a month instead of two.

Our intention is to produce a 29 minute magazine programme called SWEDEN TODAY which will include both current affairs and cultural items. The material will continue to be produced in such a way that individual items can be used or the programme can be used in its entirety. This way we hope to continue to serve the stations with a specific news or cultural profile.

The decision to make cuts in our long-established transcription service has not been an easy one, but Radio Sweden's policy is to give priority to Europe and more specifically to Sweden's immediate area, where the listenership can be more easily confirmed. If you would like to express any views on our programming, please do so. Information from stations could be valuable in our talks with the financial decision-makers.

Once again, we regret the necessity of cutting back our transcription service, but we very much hope you will find the new half-hour magazine programme both interesting and useful. Your viewpoints will be much appreciated.

We look forward to continued cooperation with your Statzen.

Yours truly,

Sarah Roxström,

Head of the English Service,

RADIO SWEDEN.
